

Could your church screen the People's Emergency Briefing?

There is a new and exciting initiative sweeping the country that aims to inform people about the climate and nature crisis while at the same time giving them the opportunity to talk and respond, making the most of the opportunities that this crisis represents, and giving our government the mandate to act.

The 50-minute film, the People's Emergency Briefing, premiered in April 2026, presents the latest evidence on the climate crisis in an accessible format and features interviews by leading experts with reaction by members of the public and celebrities. Organisers are encouraged to invite MPs, mayors, local councillors and other local leaders. The film is followed by a facilitated and friendly discussion on the implications and opportunities for the community.
